

Expert for success mindset, professional cyclist & world record holder

Monika Sattler

Monika Sattler is an entrepreneur, success mindset consultant, two-time cycling record holder, author and international speaker. Monika Sattler had her career firmly under control: after completing her studies, she secured a well-paid job at the International Monetary Fund (IMF) and later at the World Bank in Washington DC. She then worked as a top management consultant at IBM, first in Zurich and then in Melbourne, Australia. Despite her professional success, Monika did not find fulfilment. Her big dream of becoming a professional sportswoman would not let her go. Finally, she decided to change her life completely – to stop dreaming...
