

Marilyn Repp

Get out of your comfort zone and shape the future! Retail expert Marilyn Repp is driving the industry forward and leading companies into the digital future. Marilyn Repp is considered one of the most important thought leaders in the German retail industry. She is a sought-after speaker, panelist and author of numerous columns. Her analyses of trends focus on their future potential, always accompanied by the central question: Is this the future or can it go away? “The future is a mindset. Future viability means being open to change. And change is the only answer to an ever faster changing...”
