

Expert in the application of artificial intelligence, ethical AI and human-machine interaction

Klara Krieg

Klara Krieg seamlessly connects the worlds of engineering and artificial intelligence, not only through her academic background but also in her current role as AI Program Manager for Generative AI at Bosch. Previously, she worked in Silicon Valley on AI and large language models, gaining valuable international insights into the latest industry developments. Her passion lies in making the complex world of AI tangible and understandable. Klara Krieg believes that technological knowledge and practical application must go hand in hand to create real value. However, her work goes beyond technical expertise – she fosters a deep understanding of human-AI interaction...

Topics

Robotics & Artificial Intelligence, Society, Transformation & Digitalization, Transformation, Innovation & Technology, Trends, Future & Science

Languages

English, German

