AI Entrepreneur, Doctor & Author

Dr. Sven Jungmann

Dr. Sven Jungmann discusses how AI is changing the value of work and what consequences this has for companies' competitiveness. As the founder and CEO of aiomics, he faces these questions in his own company: What additional tasks can people take on with the help of AI? Which services remain valuable to customers? And in what ways does rapid prototyping simply shift the work to others? He links societal developments to concrete decisions about tasks, collaboration, and responsibility. His perspective ranges from the individual workplace to corporate strategy. He makes extensive use of AI himself, using it to transform his…
