

Anja Wehler-Schöck

As a leading analyst of international politics at the Tagesspiegel editorial office, Anja Wehler-Schöck sheds light on the power shifts between Washington, Brussels, and the Middle East, linking issues of international cooperation, democracy, and media issues, and explaining the consequences for the world order. Anja Wehler-Schöck has been a member of the Tagesspiegel editorial board since 2025. She regularly comments on global trends and current developments in international politics in the media and at high-level conferences. Every Friday, she writes about the most important international topics of the week in her LinkedIn newsletter “Thank God It’s International Friday.” Anja Wehler-Schöck...

Topics

Globalization, Politics, Policies & Economy, Rhetoric & Communication, Society, Trends, Future & Science

Languages

English, French, German

