

Manager, Speed climber, Team player

Benedikt Böhm

Benedikt Böhm – What business leaders and decision-makers can learn from extreme mountaineers
Benedikt Böhm is Germany's most athletic manager. As a speed mountaineer, CEO of the ski touring equipment manufacturer Dynafit and WWF ambassador, he repeatedly builds bridges between the extreme mountain world and the business world. At the same time, Böhm is not a risk-taker who is tired of life. In sport as in business, he plans his ambitious goals meticulously and works consistently and with passion to achieve them. Benedikt Böhm climbs 8,000-metre mountains not only without oxygen or outside help, but also extremely fast in the so-called "speed..."

Topics

Adventure & Experiences, Change-Management, CSR, Climate & Sustainability, Diversity & Inclusion, Employer Branding & Human Resources, Leadership & Recruiting, Motivation, New Work & New Culture, Resilience & Stress Management, Sport, Teamwork & Teambuilding

Languages

English, German

