

Dani Nieth

Anyone who experiences Dani Nieth live is fascinated by his vivid behavioral examples and conclusions and can use them successfully in practice. Dani Nieth experienced first-hand as a child that one can positively change oneself and one's environment through conscious communication and lived friendliness. But it was not until he abandoned his engineering studies that his eyes and ears were opened. There are lectures where the audience remains seated forever – because they have fallen asleep. And there are those from which you walk out changed: inspired, amused and engaged. Dani Nieth's top presentations Refreshing communication: Don't give a speech....
