

Christian Gansch

Christian Gansch – From Solo to Symphony: How Unity Emerges from Diversity. The foundation for his lectures is his unusual biography: On the one hand, Christian Gansch was successful as a conductor of international top orchestras, on the other hand, he worked in the music industry for fourteen years. In his function as a producer, he acted cross-functionally between production, marketing, sales and controlling. His experiences in the music and business world form the basis for his presentations in German and English (English biography see menu bar above). Christian Gansch: Listening to each other, acting together – the orchestral interplay...
