

Rolf Dobelli

Rolf Dobelli (1966) studied philosophy and business administration at the University of St. Gallen (HSG) and received his doctorate from the same university. Rolf Dobelli worked for Swissair, founded the company getAbstract (the world's largest provider of compressed management knowledge) and lived in Hong Kong, Australia, England and for many years in the USA. Rolf Dobelli is founder and curator of WORLD.MINDS, a community of leading personalities from science, culture and business. Rolf Dobelli – The Art of Digital Living. We are always well informed and yet know so little. Why? Because we constantly consume “news” – little morsels of...

Topics

Globalization, Megatrends & Education, Politics & Economy, Politics, Policies & Economy, Society, Trends, Future & Science

Languages

English, German

