Elly Oldenbourg

Elly Oldenbourg is an entrepreneur, former Google manager, bestselling business author and expert on sustainability, female finance and capital justice. What does an economy look like that radically rethinks capital, power and participation? As co-founder and co-CEO of FemFinance Ventures, Elly Oldenbourg is dedicated to breaking down outdated structures and creating space for a more inclusive, sustainable approach. After more than 12 years as a manager at Google, during which she helped shape the digital transformation from within a global corporation, she now acts as a start-up founder and investor herself. She combines deep tech and management expertise with the question...
