

Christian Bredlow

Christian Bredlow is the founder and managing guide of Digital Mindset. Together with his team, he inspires entrepreneurs, executives, works councils and employees to embrace the digital transformation and supports companies with inspirational formats in the process of (digital) transformation. The business informatics graduate is a motivator, enabler and expert in one person. He is the father of twins, a blogging music lover, and a passionate keynote speaker – his hip hop past is something he can't always hold back in his presentations either. He drives the topic of digitalization from a different perspective, confronts his listeners with their own perseverance,...
