

Arne Elias Corneliusen

Arne Elias Corneliusen is the founder and CEO of NRCI. The geopolitical consulting firm he founded in 2010 in Oslo, Norway, advises financial firms, policymakers and business leaders. He is a political scientist and he studied in the US, Egypt, and Chile. He traveled around the world from a young age, and possesses a broad and deep global understanding of geopolitical and strategic events and dynamics. Arne traveled to more than 125 countries, and he conducted a wide range of long overland fact-finding expeditions alone by bus, train, and car across Africa, Asia, the Middle East, Europe, and Latin America where...

Topics

Change-Management, ESG & CSR, Globalization, Politics & Economy, Politics, Policies & Economy, Robotics & Artificial Intelligence, Transformation & Digitalization, Transformation, Innovation & Technology, Trends, Future & Science

Languages

English, Norwegian

